Validation error versus training-set size